¹. In case your organization operates in several States, please indicate clearly which State or States are concerned by your answers when filling in parts B, C and E.

31 countries around the world. Therefore, each local government or cultural institute has been doing a lot of activities with their government at the national level. For example, ICCN secretariat recently built a UANA(UNESCO Accredited NGO Association) with other four NGOs in Rep. of Korea in order to safeguard ICH with an excellent system and governmental support. In addition, the ICCN Secretariat will lead the way to cooperate with the UNESCO accredited NGOs in Japan and China so as to strengthen the consultation role of ICCN as well as to lighten the cultural competition of the Northeast Asia.

In Europe, several Italian municipalities, and cultural institutes such as COPPEM and NED, have carried out cultural activities with the EU and the Italian government. They have held international conferences and projects related to ICH, education, youth and women. From the headquarters in Algemés (Spain) they have collaborated and participated in several forums in institutions and universities in Spain and Italy, spreading the Organization and the role of ICH in society. This has helped citizens to realize how important it is to safeguard their ICH and to understand why we must pass on ICH to our descendants. Thus, all ICCN members are doing, directly and indirectly, what they can with their governments.

B.2. Describe your organization's cooperation with competent governmental bodies for the safeguarding of intangible cultural heritage (Article 13), including existing institutions for training on and the documentation of ICH (OD 154).

The Beijing Assembly (China) 2017 was dedicated to Children and Youth, with the participation of the Chinese Government and the presence of the Government of the Community of Valencia (Spain) who exchanged cultural and touristic experiences between China and the Community of Valencia.

The Algemés Festival 2018 (Spain) was held in cooperation with the government of Valencia and with the presence of ICH technicians from the Spanish Ministry of Culture and the Spanish Ambassador of UNESCO. In this Assembly it was unanimously decided to move the ICCN head office from Gangneung (Korea) to Algemés (Spain).

In 2018, during the Winter Olympic Games, the government of Gangneung, capital of the Pionchang Region, invited the ICCN delegations to participate in the event with cultural and artistic contributions to spread their respective heritages.

The 2019 Assembly, the first one organised from the Algemés office in Spain, was held in Beith Sahour (Palestine) with direct funding from the Palestinian Authority and the presence of its Minister of Culture. ICCN hasn't participated in the preparation of those nominations in association with the Committee directly. However, we provided specialized knowledge and relevant cooperation with the governments and communities as an advisory NGO to inter-governmental Committee for safeguarding of Intangible Cultural Heritages and in the field of local cultural heritage.

Nevertheless, some ICCN members have participated individually as advisors and have exchanged experiences in the preparation of some dossiers in their respective countries. Such is the case of the Valencian Museum of Festivities of Algemés, which participated as an advisory for the Central Review Board of "Las Fallas" of Valencia, and for the "Caballos del Vino" (Caravaca de la Cruz, Spain), respectively.

Julio Blasco, director of the Museum of Algemés and General Secretary of ICCN is a member of the Advisory Council of ICH of the Regional Ministry of Culture and Sports of the Valencian Government.

ICCN has recommended youth and women's programs.

These youth programs and increase of women's role in ICH have been shared with all the ICCN members at the annual meetings such as ICCN General Assembly, ICCN Workshop and ICCN Festival. Through these activities, all the ICCN members could understand what ICH is and why it must be safeguarded by the central government, local government, NGOs, transmitters and citizens, naturally.

This process helps members get their understanding of ICH. For example, Gangeung city, as a member of ICCN has a youth program that includes local ICH. During Gangneung Danoje Festival, young people could get practical experience about various local cultures and get an opportunity to discuss about the importance of ICH.

In another case, Ifugao (Philippines) also has its own youth programme to transmit Fudfud singing and traditional dance.

Algemés (Spain) presented the publication "Mujeres en la fiesta" ("Women in the festivity") which collects testimonies and reflections on women and the festivity. A school campaign on intangible heritage will be launched in 2021 to alleviate the suspension of traditions due to the Covid impact.

The "Women's Museum" in Hanoi (Vietnam) has also launched a national campaign to disseminate the role of women in the perpetuation of ICH during the Covid confinement.

B.6. Describe your organization's participation in other safeguarding measures, including those referred to in Article 13 and OD 153, aimed at:

- a. promoting the function of ICH in society;
- b. fostering scientific, technical and artistic studies with a view to effective safeguarding;

ICCN has been supporting on cultural exchange activities among the ICCN members. The cultural exchange has a power not only to inspire artists, artisans and professional traditional performers but also to make governors create better cultural policies.

Every year, all ICCN members carry out the cultural exchange at least 3 times. This exchange during the COVID incidence has been carried out "Online".

In 2017, the assembly held in Beijing (China) dealt with the theme of Children and ICH. The delegations from Korea, Iran, Spain, Italy, the Philippines and Vietnam presented to the young people from China the involvement of children in their respective heritage.

In 2018 at the Assembly in Algemesi (Spain) with the theme "I want to know your heritage" the delegations of Italy, Slovakia, Lithuania, Philippines, Sri Lanka, Israel, Palestine and Iran presented to the public a series of documentaries about their celebrations. China and Korea presented "live" the dance of the Gangneung Farmers and the art of "Kun-fu". The artisans of Algemesi presented their traditional products and the international delegations were able to share the celebration of the Festival of Algemesi, declared Intangible Heritage of Humanity by UNESCO. At the festival, Israel and Palestine played the role of releasing the political conflict. In this sense, we believe that cultural exchange can contribute to world peace.

In 2019 in Beith Sahour, representatives from Italy, Slovakia, the Philippines, Sri Lanka, Spain and Croatia participated in the annual Festival of traditional Palestinian products.

ICCN recognised that the Youth Programme is very important for safeguarding ICH.

Korean ICCN has organised several Youth Forums since 2010, so that young people from various countries of the organisation have the opportunity to share ICH with each country and raise awareness to pass on ICH to future generations.

ICCN created the Global Youth Leaders Programme and has given them the opportunity to learn ICH by organising cultural events such as traditional performances, photo exhibitions and events related to culture and traditional food every year. We believe that these activities helped the public to understand what ICH is and to become interested in it. If possible, ICCN hopes to focus on ICH education for young people and ordinary citizens in cooperation with the government, NGOs and broadcasters.

The Dubrovnic International Meeting 2013 was aimed at young people with the participation of several countries. And the Beijing Assembly in 2017 was addressed to the education of Children in traditional culture.

The ICCN Office is currently preparing a document aimed at disseminating the ICH among children to mitigate the suspension of traditions during COVID incidences. This pilot programme will be launched among the schoolchildren of Algemesí next spring.
